Capsule Wardrobe = Capability

A one-page picture of how the pieces build on each other

A simple visual for the book and the website. Each step builds on the one before it, and by the end the wardrobe isn't really the point anymore.

How It Builds

Step	What changes	What it gives you
Fewer pieces	Less to manage, less to decide between	More clarity in the morning
Better fit	Clothes that work with your body and your life	More confidence walking out the door
Preparation	Knowing what you have and what it does	More independence, less last-minute scrambling
Skill transfer	The thinking carries past clothes — into packing, shopping, raising kids who can do this themselves	A lifelong benefit you didn't see coming

A capsule wardrobe isn't really about clothes. It's about being capable in your own life.
